Mr. Lewis,

I have reviewed the documentation you forwarded to David Weingart a couple of weeks ago. David and I have also discussed your allegations and are in agreement.

We have decided not to initiate a new investigation into your allegations. We must utilize our resources on our top priorities, which are disclosures from current FAA employees and new safety allegations from current certificate holders, as well as the general public. It is neither practical, nor possible for us to look back and conduct thorough investigations involving allegations that are now many years old, unless there is probable cause to suspect that the alleged instances of policy non-compliance may be on-going.

I'm sorry to have to deliver this news.

Sincerely,
