Subject: Response to FAA Administrator's Hotline Call #200611210001

This is in response to the anonymous call to the Administrator's Hotline dated November 21, 2006. The caller alleges that [REDACTED] has created a hostile work environment at [REDACTED]. The caller alleges that he is rude and hostile and has been heard on recorded lines calling pilots "freaking idiots". The caller also alleges that Mr. [REDACTED] behavior is unprofessional and disruptive and that management is aware of this issue but has not addressed the problem.

As a result of a previous but recent complaint, Management at [REDACTED] conducted an internal investigation. A review of voice recordings and statements submitted by facility personnel confirmed that Mr. [REDACTED] conduct on October 18, 2006, was inappropriate, unprofessional, and inexcusable. I wish to assure the caller that this matter is currently under review and will be appropriately and swiftly addressed. Behavior like that exhibited by Mr. [REDACTED] cannot and will not be tolerated in any air traffic facility. Thank you for bringing this matter to our attention.

This is in response to your call to the Administrator's Hotline dated October 23, 2006.

You allege that [REDACTED] created a hostile work environment, he has a history of violent outbursts, and he is very abusive and makes threats to harm his coworkers at [REDACTED]. You stated that Mr. [REDACTED] physically choked you 8 years ago and continues to exhibit escalating anger issues. Recently, on Wednesday, October 18, 2006, Mr. [REDACTED] became irate and yelled over a recorded line at pilots flying into and out of [REDACTED]. You further allege that management is aware of Mr. [REDACTED] temper, but has been slow to resolve the problem.

As a result of your allegations, Management at [REDACTED] immediately conducted an internal investigation. A review of voice recordings and statements submitted by facility personnel confirmed that Mr. [REDACTED] conduct on October 18, 2006, was inappropriate, unprofessional, and inexcusable. I wish to assure you that this matter is currently under review and will be appropriately and swiftly addressed. Behavior like that exhibited by Mr. [REDACTED] cannot and will not be tolerated in any air traffic facility. Thank you for bringing this matter to our attention.

This is in response to your recent inquiry, utilizing the Administrator's Hotline, concerning the handling of your personal documentation and alleged violation of your privacy.

In November 2004, you filed a Federal Employee's Notice of Occupational Disease and Claim for Compensation with Department of Labor (DOL). The process for filing a claim includes the agency's receipt and forwarding of the appropriate claim and associated medical documentation, provided by the employee. The agency processed and forwarded the documents to DOL accordingly. DOL reviewed the claim and supporting documentation for the purpose of adjudicating the claim.

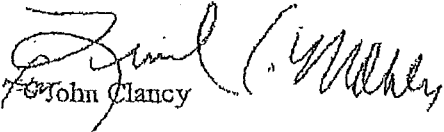

In May 2005, DOL issued its notice of decision to deny your claim for compensation benefits. The decision notice included a detailed report of specific findings and analysis of the factual evidence. The notice of decision and detailed report were issued to you, and the servicing Human Resource Management Division representative, Ms. [REDACTED] AWP-10. The issuance of the aforementioned documents did not include any medical reports. Upon receipt of the notice of decision and detailed report, Ms. [REDACTED] forwarded a copy of each to Ms. [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Ms. [REDACTED] has an office with a locked file cabinet in which she maintains sensitive and privacy act documents. The case file associated with your claim is properly identified as "containing privacy act information." Your case file is maintained in the locked cabinet, located within Ms. [REDACTED] locked office.

FAA-977-A-11

Our research of the concerns set forth by you, concluded that no medical records were forwarded by DOL or Ms. [REDACTED] to Ms. [REDACTED]. Additionally, it has been determined that the manner in which Ms. [REDACTED] maintains your case file is in full compliance with the Privacy Act of 1974.

I hope that this information and communication satisfactorily addresses your concerns.

John Clancy

Re: [REDACTED]

Dear Sir or Madam:

Our office represents [REDACTED] in her Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) claims against the Department of Transportation. Recently, Ms. [REDACTED] informed us that, on or about Monday, May 16, 2005, your office mistakenly sent her medical files to her supervisor, the manager of [REDACTED]

The Privacy Act of 1974, as amended, 5 U.S.C. 552a(b) states the following:

No agency shall disclose any record which is contained in a system of records by any means of communication to any person, or to another agency, except pursuant to a written request by, or with the prior written consent of, the individual to whom the record pertains, unless disclosure of the record would be--

(1) to those officers and employees of the agency which maintains the record who have a need for the record in the performance of their duties;

(2) required under section 552 of this title;

(3) for a routine use as defined in subsection (a)(7) of this section and described under subsection (e)(4)(D) of this section;

(4) to the Bureau of the Census for purposes of planning or carrying out a census or survey or related activity pursuant to the provisions of Title 13;

(5) to a recipient who has provided the agency with advance adequate written assurance that the record will be used solely as a statistical research or reporting record, and the record is to be transferred in a form that is not individually identifiable;

(6) to the National Archives and Records Administration as a record which has sufficient historical or other value to warrant its continued preservation by the United States Government, or for evaluation by the Archivist of the United States or the designee of the Archivist to determine whether the record has such value;

(7) to another agency or to an instrumentality of any governmental jurisdiction within or under the control of the United States for a civil or criminal law enforcement activity if the activity is authorized by law, and if the head of the agency or instrumentality has made a written request to the agency which maintains the record specifying the particular portion desired and the law enforcement activity for which the record is sought;

(8) to a person pursuant to a showing of compelling circumstances affecting the health or safety of an individual if upon such disclosure notification is transmitted to the last known address of such individual;

(9) to either House of Congress, or, to the extent of matter within its jurisdiction, any committee or subcommittee thereof, any joint committee of Congress or subcommittee of any such joint committee;

(10) to the Comptroller General, or any of his authorized representatives, in the course of the performance of the duties of the General Accounting Office;

(11) pursuant to the order of a court of competent jurisdiction; or

(12) to a consumer reporting agency in accordance with section 3711(e) of Title 31.

None of the above-cited exceptions apply to Ms. [REDACTED] situation. Therefore, Ms. [REDACTED] does not have a right to retain the file in her possession and should return it to your office.

Dear Ms. Fenton:

This letter is in response to your correspondence to our office dated 05/25/2005, in which you indicated that, according to your client, Ms. [REDACTED] OWCP had mistakenly sent her medical file to her supervisor, [REDACTED] at the U. S. Department of Transportation in violation of the Privacy Act of 1974.

As you may imagine, our office is well aware of the Privacy Act of 1974. We take its mandate very seriously and adhere to our own internal policies in order to maintain the privacy of our claimants' records. Still, employing agencies seeking to offer light duty or other reemployment to injured workers are allowed under exception (7) of the Act to come into our facility and view a particular claimant's case file or to request a copy of medical work restrictions or similar documentation from a case file maintained by OWCP for the purpose of developing an appropriate offer of employment.

In the instant case, however, none of claimant's medical records have ever been requested by anyone from her employing agency and OWCP has not released any of her medical records to [REDACTED] or anyone else at the Department of Transportation. As part of my inquiry into the validity of the statements made in your letter to us, I personally contacted Ms. [REDACTED] to find out if she, in fact, had a copy of Ms. [REDACTED] case file in her possession. Ms. [REDACTED] stated that she had only a few medical reports, which she obtained internally through "AWP 300" The Western Pacific Division of Aerospace Medicine via the FAA Flight Surgeon. Ms. [REDACTED] specifically stated that she has never received any of claimant's medical reports from anyone at the U.S. Department of Labor.

If you have any further questions concerning this issue, please feel free to contact me at the address above.

Sincerely,

Kim Harvey

Dear Ms. [redacted]

Thank you for allowing me to communicate with you via e-mail.

I do have some questions regarding my OWCP record.

1. I am unclear as to why this record was sent to the facility. This record contains personal sensitive information that refers to my medical condition. It is my understanding that this is a confidential record that is to be maintained in the regional office subject to the protection of the Privacy Act of 1974 and the FOIA. My manager [redacted] has informed me that she did not request this record. I have not requested accommodation due to a disability. Could you please explain the regulation that allows or requires that this record be sent to the facility?
2. The notification I received from the DOL stated this record was sent only to me and the regional office but did not specify that the record was being forwarded to the facility. Can you please explain the reasoning behind sending my record to the facility as well as to me and the regional office?
3. Could you also please explain why my OWCP record should be maintained at the facility if you know? My supervisor [redacted] had a copy in her file. I have learned from my manager Ms. [redacted] that she considers this to be part of my employee record. However, Ms. [redacted] informed me she keeps this record in her office. Also, could you please explain if this record will be transferred with my employee file when I transfer to my new facility?
4. It may be helpful for me to know how you classify this record? Is it a medical file, employee file, OWCP case file or is it something else?
5. Finally, I received a response from Kim Harvey at the DOL regarding an earlier inquiry. This letter is dated June 3, 2005 and was copied to your office. Do you know if this letter was sent to [redacted]? If it has, could you please specify the date that it was sent?

Thank you for your time,
Sincerely,
